The year is 1929 and the gang at Alfie's Gin Joint is getting ready for one swinging Christmas party. Boss Alfie, a better drinker than a business man, has just invested all of his money back into the stock market. His much wiser sidekick, Moneywise, and his sweet, savvy gal Sally are dismayed that they may lose their joint. Meanwhile stalking about is the maniacal Sister Bernadette who is hell bent on turning the joint into a soup kitchen for the homeless, while the aging demented show girl, Minnie, befriends a handsome handless hobo named Hank who seeks out the gang in his desperate times. Will Alfie and Money put the jingle back in the joint in time for Christmas or will Sister Bernadette convert their beloved bar into a haven for the handsome and homeless? Hilarious hijinks and foolishness abound in A Little Less Jingle!
